Description

BENETEAU OCEANIS 43 — 2007 CAP MED BOAT & YACHT CONSULTING presents this 2007 Oceanis 43, launched in 2008, a Berret-Racoupeau design from the Beneteau yard. At 13.11 metres with a 4.11-metre beam, this large cruiser combines interior volume, easy handling and genuine seakeeping — a very well maintained yacht in perfect condition, backed by extensive engine and maintenance invoices. The engine is regularly serviced by Meca Bateau in Bandol: approx. 2,400 hours, new heat exchanger. Haul-out and hull polishing are carried out every year, and all through-hulls were replaced in 2023. The sail plan is remarkably complete with a new sail wardrobe: fully battened mainsail on a Ronstan track, furling genoa (2020), new asymmetric spinnaker and new Code 0. An electric winch to port under the sprayhood makes handling easy. Autonomy is a real strength: stern arch integrated into the pushpit (2020) with 300 W of solar panels and built-in davits, watermaker (90 h), diesel heating, three new 115 A service batteries (2026), bow thruster fed by two dedicated batteries, 2000 W electric windlass with 70 m of chain (2024) and a new Delta anchor (2026). Comfort on board has been fully refreshed: interior and exterior upholstery renewed in 2024, saloon converting into a double berth, ENO cooker (2023), sprayhood and bimini from 2023, Flexiteek cockpit (2024) and cockpit table refurbished in 2025. Navigation relies on a Raymarine C80 package with integrated radar and AIS, plus an Autohelm ST6000 autopilot. Safety and tenders: new liferaft (2024), dinghy with two outboards — an electric Torqeedo and a Honda 4 hp four-stroke. An Oceanis 43 ready to sail, with a rare level of maintenance.
